Yoo-HooŽ Mix-Ups

A while back when I was rummaging through my pantry I came upon several bottles of flavored Yoo-hoo that I had scored from Wal-Mart and tucked away for over a year.

Each of the bottles was covered with a little dust and needed a pretty fierce shaking, but the contents were very well preserved and quite tasty. After some Web browsing of a few unofficial Yoo-hoo Web sites, I discovered these worshipped “Mix-ups” variety of the famous chocolate drink had since been put to rest. Now, after a little work in the top secret “lab,” I’ve come up with a way to clone the flavor of these bottled products which can no longer be obtained outside of the ethereal food-world afterlife.

Chocolate-Banana

3/4 cup nonfat dry milk

3 tablespoons Nesquik chocolate drink powder 1 1/2 cups cold water

1 1/2 teaspoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon banana extract

Chocolate-Strawberry

3/4 cup nonfat dry milk

3 tablespoons Nesquik chocolate drink powder 3 cups cold water

1 tablespoon sugar

1 1/2 teaspoons strawberry extract

Chocolate-Mint

3/4 cup nonfat dry milk

3 tablespoons Nesquik chocolate drink powder 1 1/2 cups cold water

1 teaspoonn sugar dash mint extract (less than 1/8 teaspoon) Combine all the ingredients in a blender for the flavor of your choice in a container or jar with a lid. Shake until dry milk is dissolved. Drink immediately or chill in the refrigerator.

Makes 1 14-ounce drink.
